

Definition of a Member in Good Standing

At Numerica we value all of our members. With all the perks of membership we hope to provide you, we ask that, in return, you follow a set of guidelines and remain in good standing.

To be in good standing, the following qualifications must be met:

- Keep us informed of your current address
- Comply with all applicable laws and all obligations, agreements and contracts with Numerica
- Refrain from any willful destruction or damage to Numerica property
- Act with civility in all dealings with other members and with Numerica's employees, officers and volunteers
- Refrain from illegal, unethical or disruptive conduct

Unfortunately, failure to remain in good standing could result in a restriction of the services we provide to you or, in some cases, expulsion from membership in Numerica.
